LANAI WILL TRY SUGAR BEET CROP

Several Fields Now Planted and Doing Well—By-Product Valuable Feed for Cattle.

Lanai is to attempt a new industry in the way of sugar beet growing.
There are several good sized fields of beets growing now and they seem to be coming along in fine shape and will realize all that is expected of them.

A movement is on foot to erect a beet sugar mill and in the near future it is expected that the proper officers will be shown over the large tracts of land that are suitable for beet culture and have the same divided up and white families placed on them.

It is claimed that in these islands two crops a year can be raised with proper cultivation and at that rate it would be a better proposition than raising cane.

The by-product of beets is a valuable asset, being a most nutritious food for cattle, a great milk producer.
One of the disadvantages that will attach itself to the raising of beets for sugar is the fact that a large number of miles of fence will have to be built to protect the growing crops from the thousands of wild goats which range the island. The extermination of the goats will have to be made before the successful raising of beets can be carried on.

It still remains to be seen if the beets raised on Lanai will produce the same percentage of sugar as do the crops on the mainland.

Lanai has done very well with crops of sisal and cotton and there seems to be no reason why it should not produce a good crop of beets.

BISHOP HUGHES LAYS CORNER STONE

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, who has been conducting the Fifth Annual Conference at the Methodist church, laid the corner stone of the new edifice at the corner of Beretania and Victoria streets yesterday afternoon.
The service was simple but impressive. "The Methodist Episcopal church never dies. Never in any experience have I seen it die though your experience may differ from mine.
I have seen it die of sickness and sometimes it has got married but it has never died."

The Rev. John T. Jones, pastor of the First M. E. Church in this city, read a list of things which were put in a tin box and placed in the stone.
These included photographs of those who have worked for the new church, those who have designed it, and those who have and are to build it. The minutes of important meetings connected with the founding of the new church were there also and various accounts of it in the religious journals.
